THE LOVE STAMP

On January 19, 2023, in Austin, TX, the US Postal Service issued two new Love Forever stamps commemorating the 50th Anniversary of its ever-popular Love series. The stamps feature a kitten and a puppy resting on a red heart with LOVE in all caps in the background. 200,000,000 stamps were issued in panes of 20, in both traditional die-cut and imperforate formats. The original artwork by Chris Buzelli was painted with oils on wood panels, then scanned and edited digitally by Ethel Kessler, Art Director at the US Postal Service, to create the final images. The US Postal Service chose Austin Pets Alive! to host the First Day of Issue Dedication Ceremony because, as one of the country's largest no-kill pet rescue shelters, "They recently celebrated the 100,000th rescue since their nonprofit was founded – a demonstration of LOVE in action." We love the Love Stamp forever. We hope you love the cachet.

LETTER FROM THE SACAPEX CHAIR

Welcome to Sacapex 2023!

We are pleased that you have come to our stamp show and we hope you enjoy the efforts of the Sacramento Philatelic Society in presenting it for you.

We love stamp collecting. This show and all such shows are labors of love. This year's stamps highlight for us the many ways we love collecting. Few hobbies offer as much education as this one. Culture, geography, politics, fine arts and natural history are just a few of the things we learn from stamps. Some of us delve deeply into the processes involved in sending a letter from one place to another. Others look carefully at how a stamp is made and study papers, inks, watermarks and perforations. The internet has brought an amazing amount of philatelic research to us without our having to leave home. It has given us access to world class libraries without having to travel. It's a way to make learning painless and exciting. And it brings you new friends and experiences. Sacramento Philatelic Society welcomes new members to our weekly meetings and we are happy to spend time helping folks navigate the hobby.

Anyone who has helped put on a stamp show knows that it is the work of many hands (as well as backs, feet and brains). I want to personally thank every SPS volunteer who has helped to make this show so successful. Thank you also to the dealers who not only delight their customers with the best in philately, but also donate door prizes to give away. And grateful appreciation goes out to the US Postal Service. I encourage every one of you to stop by the USPS booth and pick up some of the beautiful stamps they produce and use them on your mail. The Endangered Species sheet is a recent example. From door prizes to a well-rounded stock of US postal issues, the post office delivers it all.
